

Once upon a moment in a time far far away there came a group of beings who sprung into Consciousness through The Universal Source Eternal. And so a journey of Love began.

This group of beings embarked on one clear and purposeful mission, to FULLY explore and exhaust all possibilities in a Light based Universe with the absolute and definitive intention of becoming True Universal Light Beings and Creators in their own Sovereign right. And so it was to be. What a great idea they all said !!! Let's really get to know ourselves and our capacity to LOVE.

From the moment their collective and individual consciousness came into being they moved and executed their roles and purpose with intent, love and undying and eternal trust.

Their individual and collective journey took many twists, turns and unforeseeable outcomes. There were many adversities and some happy endings too. The greatest and most challenging adversity placed before them on their journey of exploring and exhausting all possible outcomes in a light based universe was the great adversity which existed in the lower physical realms called fear and doubt. Faintly remembering their mission amidst the many treacherous epochs this group of beings knew that mastery of such adversities as fear, doubt and limitation in the physical realms had to become their friend, they had to know and understand this test of wills so much that they were indeed experts in this area of universal unfolding. And so it moved along, millennia after millennia, age after age, this group of beings moved along their path, exploring all options available to them in the physical and non-physical world.

EVERYTHING of their own collective creation positive and negative, light and dark was thrown at them, and still they stood up. Sometimes their Light was dim and dull and uncertain, but never did it go out. With each step they took, with each decision they made, word spoken, action performed they carried with them layers and layers of responsibility, all necessary in order to complete their mission of TOTAL exploration in a Light based Universe.

Many other beings looked on, helped, hindered, sabotaged, cheered, loved, took part and took notice from close by and a far. This group of beings came to be known as both brave and the way-showers, for this journey of their own design and under-taking was like no other journey ever before. The depth of ALL things was being explored and recorded for all to see. And so, as there was a moment in time when this plan was put forward, there was also a moment in time when this plan was to be complete, the circle to be closed. It became known that ALL experiences had been explored and exhausted in a light based universe and so as planned this group of beings began the task of finishing their project.

A mass re-grouping of friends, brothers and sisters spanning from the furthest reaches of the Universe took place and many decisions were made. The Universal Source Eternal stepped in to gather the energies and complete the task in preparation for the next part of the plan. And so, at that time a Conscious Planetary body was created called Gaia or Planet Earth. As was another Conscious Planetary body created called The Sun. These two beings along with other conscious beings would set the scene and create the environment for the completion into a Age of Golden Creation. There were many roles, many beings stepped forth to be part of this enfoldment, realizing the magnitude of the task at hand all involved knew this would be final tests of all tests. As before many other beings looked on, some helped, some sabotaged, all part of the great ‘balancing’ act that was to take place.

The scope and magnitude of the original mission had expanded; many contracts had to be honoured in order for this plan to be aligned and congruent with the highest Universal vibration. Many new beings had come on board from the original group and this was integral given the enormity and significance of this for ALL UNIVERSAL SENTIENT BEINGS. This final plan with Earth and Sun would allow for one last experience to unfold, the experience of transmuting the duality of darkness and light back into ONE true Universal Light. Some beings were all for it, some beings were dead against it and some beings were on the fence.

What started out as a simple idea had now become a complex and multifaceted under-taking. One of the greatest and most menacing structures that stood in the way was a man-made design called ‘religion’. What started out as a modality to share truth, had become the very opposite. Some beings who had been following the original beings with the intent to become beings of Sovereign Light, had fallen away from their original path and in this process of disconnection from The Universal Source Eternal they had continued on the journey of fear. They successfully enlisted many on Planet Earth to take religion and use it for the demise of humanity; this was a great adversity indeed. Their plan was clever, it was disguised as something ‘spiritual and virtuous and divine’, it carefully positioned itself as the ‘spokesperson’ representing and misrepresenting an energy called god. It was clever, it was sophisticated, it used some truths, but in its essence it was the joker card to end all joker cards. Many inhabitants of Planet Earth followed religion believing religion was worthy of their trust. Little did they know (or yet were they to remember) in their slumbered state far removed from their original Consciousness that they were much greater than anything man-made, and that included religion. And in its hour of need, religion and the beings behind religion were doing everything they could, infiltrating all beings available to hang on to whatever power they thought they had.

Despite their need for power and manipulation even at the genetic and DNA level, in alignment and accordance with the true Universal vibration that all things must be honoured, the show still went on. Sun and Earth were unstoppable at this time, as were the many beings entrusted to responsibly wrap up the task at hand and return to ONE true Universal Light. Beings of a lesser vibration could continue their course as they needed, what became far more important was completion of the original idea set forth eons, and epochs and ages of past. Life on Earth was turning out to be a bumpy ride, especially toward the end when ALL things were being played out. Some inhabitants of planet earth were now well on the path to wakefulness, some still following the base of religion and doctrine and other man-made structures designed to limit and conceal. The great concealing became known as 'the veil'. During this final stage of great re-balancing the Light on Planet Earth shone bright and True like never before. The movement from asleep to awake brought with it the demand and call for Truth. The being Gaia and the being the Sun in accordance with what was agreed upped the ante to do all that was required to bring home ALL beings to their original plan, ensuring all beings at all vibrations were accounted for. There were many who had been asleep for a very very long time, many who had designed it that way in order to fully experience all they need to experience in order to become True Universal Light Beings and Creators in their own Sovereign right. There were some who were here only to observe and learn, it was not their time, they indeed the bravest and courageous of all.

It was a time of great divide and great connection, a time of hurt and happiness, a time of great knowledge and great deception. The program of duality was fighting its last battle one final time, all condensed down and living upon a soon to be Star once called Our Planet Earth.

And so the tale of the True Universal Creators in Their Own Sovereign Right was told