

Response to the 'Briefings of the Allies of Humanity' by Brigitta Keck, October 2008

Background

Early August 2008 I was inspired to write a letter to Marshall Vian Summers, the author of the 'Allies of Humanity Book One' available as a pdf file on his website <http://www.alliesofhumanity.org/> .

From Marshall's home page:

"...Over twenty years ago, a group of individuals from several different worlds gathered at a discreet location in our solar system near earth for the purpose of observing the alien intervention that is occurring in our world. From their hidden vantage point, they were able to determine the identity, organization and intentions of those visiting our world and monitor the visitors' activities. This group of observers call themselves the 'Allies of Humanity.'"

A short summary of these 'Briefings' would be that currently all of us, but especially our leaders/governments, are being interfered with on a mental level by rather 'unfriendly' aliens in order to get access to our world and our resources. Scenarios are being created to put us in a situation where 'we' will be happy to welcome so called 'saviours' from the stars under the pretence to 'help' us.

The 'Greater Community' that they refer to frequently is their term for the rest of the universe from our point of view, a community based on a high level of competition and where open warfare has been replaced with sophisticated manipulation.

August 2008 - A Sacred Time

Initially I had planned to write only a short letter introducing Marshall to the work of George Kavassilas - and then something strange happened. For some reason this letter got longer and longer, I just could not stop. I suddenly started to write the 'whole story' of what we 'Humans' are about. Day after day I felt like I was gently pushed to continue and it was not an easy task. At some stage I even felt that the format of a personal letter was not appropriate any more, that I would have to change it later into a 'proper' article or an essay.

However at that point in time I did not know what great significance that 'Letter' would have for my own life.

I was not aware that I had started to write on the 8/8/8 (!) and that I would finish on the 17/8/8 (!!), dates linked to the Greek Gematria value of "Jesus" -> 888. I also was not aware that my whole life was about to be changed.

You see, the creation of this 'Letter' will always be inextricably linked to the death of my husband Lynton.

In Memory of Lynton John Keck

I still remember the morning of Sunday, August 17, 2008. Lynton went off to visit a friend, his 'motorbike soulmate', to spend a happy day in a garage surrounded by his favourite modes of transportation. I waved good-bye and went to my office feeling rather tired, but I had that strange feeling that I had to finish that letter, no matter what. I finally managed to come to an end late afternoon and I suddenly felt almost 'empty', nothing left to say.

Only a few hours later did I receive a phone call that on his way home my husband had been killed in an accident.

During the difficult time that followed I was looked after and cared for by his many friends. I was almost humbled by the support I received and I am truly grateful that I live in a small rural community in Australia.

However one of my friends was able to provide a rather unique service. While talking on the phone on the 26/8/8 (!!!) suddenly Lynton 'came through' and with the help of my friend started to 'talk' to me - and besides personal messages provided some rather intriguing information in regard to the 'Letter'.

Lynton 'told' me that before we came down to Earth both of us made an agreement that we would meet and that he would help me with my Work down here on Earth. The key event was that I wrote that 'Letter'. I had demonstrated that I did not need his support any longer in a physical form and as a result he was allowed to go back 'home'.

A great comfort is also that Lynton's friend actually told me this: "While it might be sad that I was probably the last person who saw him alive, what I remember is that I have never seen him so happy. He had almost a bounce in his step."

Now you might understand why this 'Letter' is so important to me. It will always be perfect just the way it is, but I feel that I now need to share it with the rest of the world.

Remember ...

When you start to read the 'Letter' that follows please let the words sink into your very being because I will not be telling you anything new, your heart and soul already knows.

May you remember what a truly magnificent being you are, a divine being with a soul beautiful beyond measure!

Dear Marshall,

My name is Brigitta Keck and I live about 250 km from Sydney in rural Australia. A friend of mine has often pointed out to me that I should sign up to CoastToCoast AM and listen to the broadcasts, especially recommending your interview. He was impressed by how eloquently you presented this topic. I finally subscribed a few days ago in order to get access to the "Allies of Humanity". I listened closely not only to you, but also to George Noory's comments and questions.

Before I listened to the broadcast though I actually visited your website, downloaded the pdf file of the first book, read it, and also browsed through the online discussion group.

I admire that you bring that difficult topic to the attention of a broader audience.

However while a piece of information can be interesting in itself, how to interpret it, how to understand its significance and how to fit it into a wider view of the world can be a challenge.

Many people currently feel the need to find an explanation for this time of confusion when everything seems to fall apart. We also seem to feel that 'something' is about to happen and a sense of urgency to DO something even if we have not the slightest idea what that might be in a world of upheaval.

For example in the case of the 'Allies of Humanity' we are up against a force of outside intervention and we don't know how to react - yet.

When I subscribed to your email group I received a very friendly email which seems to invite feedback. That is one of the reasons why I write to you.

The other one is what happened to me when I read the first book about the briefings of the 'Allies of Humanity'. You see, I have travelled a different path and came across that information in a different way. So when I read the book I immediately recognised that here the truth of what is happening is presented in a beautiful way. However I felt as if a great weight was settling down on my shoulders, as if a dark cloud was hovering above me, and I was confused for a moment.

I was confused about my reaction because I already knew the facts. So what was it that created this great feeling of unease? I suddenly realised that what I was picking up was the fear and anxiety of the 'Allies' who are not only concerned for our welfare, but genuinely afraid for our sake, probably also enhanced by some mental interference from our not so friendly visitors.

The same feeling of unease persisted when I browsed through the online discussion group, also with some of George Noory's questions during your interview, almost a persistent undercurrent of helplessness.

I feel compelled to write to you because I want to ease your mind, to present my perception of the current events and a wider picture that might help you to better understand of what is going on.

I am keenly aware that my insights are in stark contrast to many beliefs. Many see humans as an immature race. Some even believe that everything we experience is only a dream or that we had to be quarantined from the rest of the universe because we are such a violent race. It is understandable to come to these conclusions when we take what we see at face value. However when we manage to suspend judgement and study the principles of duality and reincarnation, then a different picture emerges. What is visible is only the tip of an iceberg. We can gain access to what is still hidden from our view by stepping outside the boundaries of our current incarnation. When we listen to our heart we can free our soul and widen our perception.

In order to do that, I need to take a step back and present some information that you might not be aware of.

One reason for the current confusion is the matter of 'Right Time'.

The last four years have been a time of preparation of an unprecedented level on Earth. All over the world people have slowly started to 'wake up' and to prepare for what is coming right NOW.

With the winter/summer solstice in June 2008 vital information is finally allowed to emerge. During August and September a major shift will take place, with people moving out of their old circumstances and moving into new positions, with new connections being made.

Each of us possesses information, knowledge and insights that are like a piece of a puzzle and they are now slowly (!) being put together to form one big picture, eventually (!) cutting through all the lies, misinformation and illusions rampant here on Earth.

The question is, how are we going to fit these different pieces together?

To answer that let's use a different example. Consider each of the puzzle pieces to be a jewel and now we want to put them all together to create one extraordinary piece of jewellery of unsurpassed beauty. What is missing is the setting, the framework where we can find a location for each jewel.

That setting, that framework is now emerging. Many are already talking about "2012", Ascension and the Journey to the Golden Age.

However with today's consciousness most of us still hope to create a 'better Earth' here within the lower universes, or from the point of view of the 'Allies of Humanity' to join the 'Greater Community'.

What will happen is that we will leave duality behind, also called the Process of Ascension, and as of now we have finally entered the last stage of this process.

With that statement I would like to introduce you to the work of George Kavassilas.

Please read the articles presented by George Kavassilas on www.georgekavassilas.org, especially 'Harmonic Equation of Ascension Part 1'. It reveals that the final end date of ascension is the 21 March 2013. This is only a few years away.

The 'Message from the Heart for July 2008' discusses the difference between the Galactic Council of Light compared to an impostor group calling themselves the galactic federation of light, tying right in with the information provided by the 'Allies of Humanity'.

I have just started to step onto my own individual path with an article of my own, inspired by the Calleman Matrix, showing that there is a way to reconcile the different end dates for "2012", the 28 Oct 2011, 21 Dec 2012 and the final end date of ascension on 21 March 2013. It also explains my view of how our level of consciousness will rise dramatically in the next few years.

The 'Allies' are right in their statement that "the solution [to our dilemma] is right here on Earth". It is. The solution is us, the souls incarnated in a human body.

You can read my article 'Walking on a Knife's Edge - The Last Days of Our Soul's Journey through Duality: A Roadmap to Ascension' at http://www.genuinechoices.com/gcst_pdf.html

Humankind is preparing for the greatest event in the lower universes.

Before you read on I have to encourage you to read the above articles first, because otherwise you may not understand where I am coming from.

When I present my perspective please understand that I attempt to describe something that is more a feeling based on our innate spiritual connection to Source, trying to get at the essence of understanding, what the 'Allies' call 'Knowledge', rather than presenting 'facts'.

Let's continue with my response to the briefings by the 'Allies of Humanity'. I am still amazed how clearly and accurately they describe the interference, a wonderful presentation of the facts. However I do not agree with some of their interpretations and I will explain why this is so. It is not because I think they are wrong, but rather that what they present is literally from their alien point of view with a background of life in the 'Greater Community'. My point of view is from the human perspective with a background of life on the planet Earth. One looking in, one looking out, depending on where you are.

That allows for a closer look at what I call today an 'alien' and a 'human'.

All souls inhabiting the lower universes, the 3rd and 4th dimension, came down from Source, the ONE. Originally each soul contained the awareness of dark and light, the concept of duality. Each soul was a representative of the ONE, bright, sparkling, beautiful, but with the innocence of a child.

In order to learn, to understand and to KNOW we decided to experience each individual part of the ONE. Our souls projected themselves downwards, gradually 'drifting' down from environments of higher frequencies to lower ones. During this journey each soul fractured, more and more on each level, like light passing through a prism, enabling us to experience the full range of possibilities.

Coming down was easy. All that was needed was to become more and more enamoured with the individual aspects of existence on a lower frequency level until ending up here in the lower universes. They are the domain of duality, where the ONE is expressed in its myriad facets, each with its two apparent opposite poles beautifully expressed individually. Every incarnated soul is living in a kind of physical body, only remembering a tiny fraction of its higher or divine self.

The next task was clear. To complete the overall journey each soul needs to gather all individual experiences and combine the perceived opposites to start the journey back up and home.

However that is easier said than done. By now each race, society or culture was so entrenched in the lower levels that it was impossible to find a way back. They were trapped.

By divine intervention a solution was created. A divine soul created a celestial body that we know today as Mother Earth. Another divine soul provided another celestial body that we know today as Father Sun. Together with other divine helpers they provided the environment for souls to incarnate and to find the way out of the lower universes. Another invaluable tool was the human body, artificially created to provide the vessel for the souls to incarnate.

The description of the 'Greater Community' by the 'Allies' actually provides valuable information for this scenario. A high level of competition, societies and cultures scattered over vast distances, some openly engaged in games of domination, others living a life in reclusion.

Now take the universe of the 'Greater Community' and condense it to the size of one planet - and there you have Earth. Every possible manifestation of duality on one planet and within easy reach of each other. Different size, same principle. Macrocosm, Microcosm.

No wonder our earthly environment appears to be chaotic and I can understand that some think we need saving. Looking in from the outside we are a young race, because human bodies only exist for a relatively short time.

One difference between 'Aliens' and 'Humans' is the body. When looking at the souls though then we are all brothers and sisters, no matter what kind of evolution, no matter how much we have learned, no matter where we are located within the lower universes.

The souls incarnated in the human bodies however are old souls, brave souls originating FROM the 'Greater Community'. They had learned what there was to learn within the 'Greater Community' and were ready to begin the journey out of the lower universes. Slowly they gathered all fractured parts of their soul, a myriad of experiences in a variety of existences, in preparation for the next big step forward, taking up the challenge to live a life here on Earth.

That leaves us with the question of what is so special about us humans?

Our genetics are most certainly one important aspect. Our DNA is constructed in a way that allows us to accomplish tasks that other races can not, even if I do not understand yet how it works specifically. George Kavassilas' 'Harmonic Equation of Ascension' describes how our physical structure is based on divine principles. That gives another reason why some alien races are so desperate to get hold of our genetic material, because we have something that they are missing.

The other is that our souls, when incarnated in a human body, are able to attain an ever increasing level of understanding on a spiritual level by using our feelings and our intellect together, wrestling with the concept of duality. Within the lower universes duality cannot be experienced as ONE, only the individual poles one at a time, and still somehow we humans are able to combine them in some way. Like a Samurai warrior who disembowels an enemy with his sword on one day, but who can be moved to tears by the beauty of a cherry flower the next.

I have been studying the expression of duality and how we deal with it for years and I am coming to the conclusion that it has something to do with the ability to endure, to be able to withstand the tension when we are pulled into two different directions, somehow finding a way between.

Trying to find an example, the following picture comes to mind. During our exploration of duality we learned about individual principles, like collecting a bag full of single coins. One white coin labeled 'Love', one black coin labeled 'Hatred', one white coin for 'Freedom', one black coin for 'Restriction', the white coin 'Liberty' and the black coin 'Oppression'. During our incarnations on Earth though we learned to join two opposing principles, like taking the white coin 'Love' and the black coin 'Hatred' and literally glueing them together, creating one coin with two different sides, one white and one black.

And we manage that even while inhabiting a human body that is rather imperfect at the moment.

Originally it was designed to be a wonderful experience. We could have walked the path on Earth in peace and harmony, learning in an environment of curiosity and wonder.

However when Earth was created, 'The Dark' for lack of a better word, was allowed to reign here until the very end. As a result we have been interfered with for millennia. Our original human bodies have been tampered with, have been reduced to only two strands of DNA in order to better control us. While we are designed to walk tall, with shining eyes and a loving heart, we were rendered half blind and deaf, limping along, only sustained by a tenuous thread to our divine self.

Whenever we showed a sign that we were at the verge of throwing off our limitations and actually be openly on the path to peace and freedom, something was created to put us down again, to make us feel fearful, small and afraid. And yet, no matter what obstacles were placed onto our path, we always managed to get up again, and again, and again.

Which leads us right to current events. Today we live in the 'Time of Completion', when everything we learned and endured will finally come to fruition.

It is a wondrous time, a challenging time, and while the majority of humankind seems to be embroiled in more conflict than ever before, at the same time the quest for truth and understanding is gathering momentum as well.

Everything we need, we already have. But we need to look inside us, start to listen to our hearts, to the soft whispers of our divine self that are getting more and more persistent. In the past that was very difficult. Even 30 years ago to follow thoughts that were against the mainstream beliefs was difficult. But times have changed.

Even today's scientists have to agree that everything is 'energy'. That means that everything is also vibrating at a certain level. Until now, we were fully immersed in the vibrations of the 3rd dimension. Whenever we tried to rise above it we were actively prevented from doing so, but for years now our whole environment has changed. Gently Mother Earth started to raise the frequency bit by bit to enable us to get used to it, to adapt. As a result the connection to our higher self was gently strengthened as well, with ever increasing speed in the last four years, rising exponentially.

To understand that process is of utmost importance to make sense of the current times of open turmoil, because there is a direct link. Our feelings also have a range of frequencies, with unconditional love being located at the very top and feelings of fear and hatred at the lower end.

Our physical bodies, our souls, our whole being is yearning to get to a higher level of frequency and feelings of fear drag us down.

At the moment we live in a world where as much as possible every action, every event is skilfully orchestrated to create the maximum amount of fear in as many as possible, accompanied with masterful mental interference on every level.

It took a while to get to this point, but now we are able to understand why our 'Allies of Humanity' are so afraid for us. It seems to be a rather frightening situation, however only from an 'alien' point of view, because they cannot understand. Many humans too find the current situation frightening, but there is a way through and it will become more obvious in the future.

To change our perception of the current times we need to widen our focus, again. So far we have mainly concentrated on us 'humans' or the 'Greater Community' in general. Our feelings of fear might have been reduced to a case of anxiety by now, because we feel that something is going on, even if we do not yet fully understand the ramifications.

So let's continue with this train of thought and become very bold and have a very close look at something that we usually do not want to do. Let's try to understand 'The Dark' ones.

With today's knowledge, looking back at humankind's history, we can see that we have been conditioned in every imaginable way to approve the good and reject the bad, with the result that we instinctively shy away from even looking in that direction. A question though comes to mind. Could there be a reason why we are discouraged to do so?

For a few moments I will imagine what it might be like to be a 'Dark One', exploring their point of view.

As a dark one I made the decision to follow a specific path, the path of power and domination. In this life I worked hard and climbed up the ladder of my highly structured society, achieving positions of more and more power. I was able to do it for so long, over and over again, that following the standard procedures is second nature by now. There is no room for new ideas, for creativity, because I am convinced that my way is the right way. I AM powerful and nothing can stand in my way. I feel strong and invincible - and I am also arrogant and stuck in my ways. I especially enjoy dealing with this planet the natives call 'Earth', it is such a wonderful playground for my kind.

And suddenly the unimaginable happens. The whole environment begins to change. With the overall rising frequencies it becomes more and more difficult to maintain my position of power. My subjects are starting to 'wake up', to ask questions and to think for themselves and even I can do nothing about it. For the first time I am forced to change my tactics. A part of me, safely hidden in the back of my mind, knows that our dominion over this planet may come to an end someday, but surely that is an event that will happen in the far future, not during my lifetime. First I try the same old tactics, creating as much strife as possible, fostering separation wherever I can. But this time it doesn't work that well. Some of the natives refuse to be baited and stubbornly pursue their own paths, studying their ancient wisdoms, connecting more and more with their divine selves. They are on the verge of discovering what powerful beings they really are.

Since I cannot change that, I try to use that to my advantage. I know their culture and how they feel, what they expect. So I decide to give it to them. I used to control them only using fear, but I also learn how to control them using love, my kind of love, conditional love, a love that still judges and condemns. It is easy, lying comes naturally to me. I just tell them the truth, but with some important corrections of my own, trying to hijack their affections. So far that's not too difficult. With their natural tendencies for true love and harmony they are easily deceived.

And yet, I cannot shake a persistent feeling of unease, of doom. No matter how hard I try, it is just not working as well as I expected. Some just do not give up. I try a different method, sneaking into their minds and very carefully exploiting their greatest fears, their greatest desires. And now some even manage to resist that, they actually recognise my touch. While they might feel humiliated, ashamed and embarrassed at first, they learn and then move on. I cannot distract them any longer.

I am afraid they start to learn a few things about me that I do not want them to know. I am a very good fighter. I always win. But how do I fight an opponent that refuses to fight back? The worst is, right now a few are actually starting to loose their fear of me, moving along the path of pity, compassion to unconditional love. How dare they. I want their fear, I need their fear. Their fear and unbridled passions make me strong, I thrive on them. There is one last strategy that I can use. I regret that I cannot burn them at the stake any more, modern times require modern methods, but I can make them look foolish, disparage and scandalise them. And even that will not be enough, but I cannot give up, it is not in my nature. I have to fight until the end.

With this little excursion I want to emphasise an important fact. It might feel like we are under attack, that there is a battle going on most of us are not even aware of, but trying to 'fight' back does not help us, it helps them. We need to step back from battle, on every level, and rather become very alert, very aware, and look at the events in our world with more scrutiny. We have to look behind the facade, getting a feel for the true motivation by taking control of our emotions and rather relying on our feelings.

Instead of a battle consider it a game of chess. Their move, your move. Their action, your action. Realise that at any moment You can choose how to react, but only for yourself. The freedom and sovereignty we want to claim for ourselves we also have to grant each other and allow each individual to follow his or her own path.

That might sound a bit harsh when it seems that the whole world is going insane and we desperately want to help and ease the suffering of others. It even gets worse, because we are being set up to gladly accept outside help, outside saviours, but the cure is worse than the disease. A bleak future indeed, with no apparent escape, but only because at this point in time many of us are not aware what our true goal is.

It is paramount to understand that we are not working towards continuing our existence here in the lower universes. We are working so hard to reach the ultimate goal - Ascension. When we look at the world from this background, many things start to make sense. Let me explain that with an example that I found helpful for my own understanding.

Initially I struggled to get my head around the principle of Ascension, so I called it 'Graduation Day'. Imagine you are a student, working through your last year at school, preparing to leave in order to start your life. At the end of the year though there is usually an exam, an assessment to find out how well you know your chosen subject. Right before this exam you study especially hard, but you do not review the topics that you know well. You study everything that you still feel uncertain about, that you might not fully grasp. You study, not because you don't know anything about the subject, in fact you have spent years learning and quite successfully so, but at the end there are still a few topics where you feel you might benefit by reviewing them.

That is the reason why so many of us find ourselves in challenging situations. Each of us chose an incarnation where we can finalise our experiences and where we are prepared for our final role, for our task, our work during the Time of Completion. That happens on all levels. Microcosm. Macrocosm. It happens on a cellular level within our bodies. It happens for each individual human. It happens for Mother Earth and for Father Sun. It even happens on a cosmic level, affecting the lower universes and all its inhabitants.

The final phase has just begun and for the next few years our environment will get extremely intense, even more confusing, testing us to our limits. However with each new challenge, there is also additional help available. Rising frequencies and the increasing connection to our higher selves will support us. Trying to find the words to describe this situation I realised that the writer Charles Dickens already did so perfectly:

"It was the best of times, it was the worst of times, it was the age of wisdom, it was the age of foolishness, it was the epoch of belief, it was the epoch of incredulity, it was the season of Light, it was the season of Darkness, it was the spring of hope, it was the winter of despair, we had everything before us, we had nothing before us, we were all going directly to Heaven, we were all going the other way."

I know the next few years will provide the most incredible experience, something still beyond the scope of our comprehension. Yet I look forward to it, because it means that finally the wait is over.

So far we have been walking down a wide road together, as a huge crowd, and yet each of us has been so alone, an expression of duality in all its terrible beauty. Right now we are starting to walk on our individual paths, like the tracks at an athletics event. Many of us seem to arrive at the starting line feeling weary and tired, but during the next years we will grow stronger and stronger.

Some have already found their lane while others are still being directed to theirs, and while we seem to separate we will begin to work together as never before. This is not a race and it doesn't matter who is first and who is last. Competition will fall by the side and when we reach the finish line finally we will stand tall, with shining eyes and a loving heart.

Even today I cannot look at people the way I used to. Sometimes I can already feel the promise of their greater being, ready to break through - and the rest of the universe is watching.

Because we are not doing this only for ourselves. We are the way-showers to help our brothers and sisters out there to find their way back. The event of Ascension will reverberate throughout this universe and we will have proven that this way is possible. Our brothers and sisters travel a path that leads nowhere, down a dead end street, and they need to turn around and follow in our foot steps. We chose to travel the most difficult path to show that no matter what, it is achievable, inevitable in fact. If they are wise they learn to follow us, but I hope with all my heart they choose to become the humans we were meant to be from the beginning.

No matter what obstacles we still have to overcome, that vision sustains me and I feel honoured to be Human.
