

Message from the Heart - November 2008

About 2 years ago I had an experience where I left my body on a consciousness level. It is not astral travelling. These journeys are not instigated by my lower ego, they are orchestrated by my Higher Self. When in this mode there is full awareness and oneness with the Universe.

I found myself in France, but I unfortunately do not remember the exact location, though I can say that it was a rural setting on a private property. There was a grassy hill which rose to my left about maybe 30 meters and in front of me was a grove of trees. This grove was fairly wide, maybe 50 meters, and was flat. I entered this grove and found myself in front of a large white marble slab lying horizontal on the ground. It was larger than a king size bed and about a few inches thick. This slab sealed the entry to the tomb below. There were two people carved out of the marble who were protruding a little more than half their body thickness. The carving was of a familiar man lying on his back and with his right arm embracing his beloved next to him. The knowledge that I felt, the knowing that I received in that moment was that this is known as 'THE TOMB OF THE TWO DOVES'. The tomb of Jesus and Mary Magdalene.

Their remains are buried there together in a large tomb which is also full of artifacts and documents. There will be a specific time when this will be revealed. I unfortunately do not have the exact time frame, but it will need to be soon, probably within the next 2 to 3 years.

I did not understand or grasp fully the implications two years ago and probably to some extent still don't. For me it is only now that it feels like the right time to share this experience with you. My experiences of the past two years and understandings that have been revealed to me through my Higher Self, have brought me to a level of awareness which is unraveling the deception at hand. The magnitude of these revelations is astonishing. Recently I received more insights so I feel it is time.

2000 years ago Jesus did not ascend! He entered into the matrix relinquishing his divinity to experience birth, death and reincarnation just like the rest of us. He has had many lives since, some significant and some insignificant. One of the most significant lives was as King Arthur and Mary Magdalene as Morgane. Gwenevere is the decoy. Remember sister / wife means twin flame not blood sister. The true story of the time has been completely twisted. I was also shown that the round table was located at Stonehenge, which have since been destroyed by the church.

The real Jesus (Ihsous) is currently incarnated and is going through the ascension process together with us, because he made sure that he is not above and beyond the process.

I know this will sound crazy to some but every time lately I have shared this information with people the vast majority just look at me and say, "you know, that feels so right, it just resonates deep into the centre of my being". It seems more and more people are reaching a vibration where the old dogma and programming is no longer having a strong hold on their minds. Their consciousness is taking them beyond their minds and their lower hearts of conditional love into the core of their greater beings and the sanctity of pure clean balanced and unconditional love.

So if the remains of Jesus are buried in France it means he did not ascend. The great deception as I see it now is that we have the church saying that Jesus ascended. What really astonished me was when I became aware of the connection between the Jesus of the church with the Lord Sananda in the new age movement. Apparently Lord Sananda is the cosmic name of the ascended Jesus, so essentially it is the same story at the core.

So here we have it. The beings that created the church and its dogmatic religions realise that our consciousness was rising in frequency and the old dogmatic programs of the church were no longer controlling as many people. So these entities / beings created a new paradigm which we call the new age movement with a new fancier and cosmic version, a more sophisticated version of Jesus to attract and capture the minds and hearts of all those who are now vibrating beyond the paradigm of the original church dogma.

So now when this extraterrestrial empire turns up with their so called Galactic Federation of Light all they will have to do is merge the two together again under one banner, because essentially it is one and the same being. That way when the time comes they are able to harvest as many of their human herd as possible. You see in order to seduce as many people onto their ships as they possibly can they first have to win the minds and hearts of the masses.

Now all they need to do is plunge the planet into a state of despair, bringing the people their knees, taking away hope and breaking their will, so that when the false spiritual hierarchy turns up they will look like the good guys, and 'our saviours'.

I have had personal interaction with these beings and I assure you that there are two main characters and they are both reptilian. These two beings are highly evolved crocodilians in their true nature and form but have the ability to portray other personas. This sounds crazy I know, but unfortunately it is true. Someone once said "the truth is stranger than fiction". Many paintings throughout the dark and middle ages portray angels standing on the devil with the devil interestingly looking exactly like a reptilian. Something to ponder maybe.

One will appear as the character of Jesus, the character which they have been programming into the psyche of the human race via the church for the past 2000 years. And believe me, this being has real power. Surely you know that we have an incredible power of intention, so it will astound you to know that all the billions of people around the world worshipping this Jesus character are projecting all that intent out toward him, and with him feeding off all that praise and adulation he is becoming more and more powerful all the time. This is what's crazy!

The other sees himself as God. This is the ultimate example of a lower ego that has reached its pinnacle. This being, who is at times self deluded, truly believes that it is the creator of the Universe and has amassed a great empire. He has created a unique paradigm, a frequency which encompasses a large portion of the 3rd and 4th dimensions.

I know I have mentioned before in previous communications that the 4th dimension is the biggest Universal dimension in physical size and has many octaves, overtones and sub levels to it, but I want to point out that the empire, that has been created by these beings, is a replica of the greater Universe. The being that sees itself as God resides in the upper reaches of the 4th dimension. He has evolved and amassed great power over eons of time, but compared to the rest of life, all it truly is, is just a big fish in a small pond.

This empire spans many frequencies, so often you hear people speaking about 6th or 7th dimensional Dracos or 11th dimensional beings. As I previously shared in other communications I took the journey up through the dimensions of our Universe so I can tell you from my experience that the physical structure of the Dracos does not go beyond the top of the 4th dimension and that there is no physical form beyond the top of the 7th dimension.

I know I am privileged to have this point of reference and I am eternally grateful because it allows me to see through these deceptions easier and that is why I am sharing this information with you. It is my responsibility. I took that journey for a reason.

So all these Dracos and beings fit within this empire which has gone about duplicating the structure of the greater Universe down here in the lower Universes of the 3rd and 4th dimension. The critical factor to understand is that when you are within this empire and you are in the lower frequencies, the beings at the top of this empire will appear as light because they have a higher vibration.

The agenda over the past 6000 years was to plunge the Earth and its people down into these lower vibrations to ultimately assimilate us all into their empire. That is why most religions say life began about 6000 years ago. It's the 4th and final age of the 24 832 year cycle for life eternal.

At the top of this empire they have managed to create their own light bodies. These are artificial light bodies who's construct energy is the light of conditional love. So here you have this dark empire which spans many frequencies appearing as dimensions and has created both paradigms of dark and light within its greater structure. Ingenious isn't it. Now that is playing God!

There are many ET races that have fallen into this domain and are under their control. It is a huge empire and this being presents itself as God to these star nations. Just as we have mind control and brain washing religions on this planet it is important to realize that there is a multitude of brain washing, mind control programs and dogmas that exist on a galactic level as well.

Remember, as above so below.

So here we have entire star nations which truly believe this being is God and his side-kick as the Son of God. Please do not underestimate the power and cunning of the dark ones and their ability to pose as light.

With such a great empire under their control this means a huge amount of resources are at their disposal. So when they approach a planetary population, depending on their level of evolution, the group or faction deemed appropriate within the empire can be dispatched to interact with the people. This group or faction, for example the grays, will portray a certain paradigm and state of being. They can be used by the greater empire to portray a more undesirable existence. They can play the role of the bad guys so to speak, so that when this group creates chaos and instability on that planetary body a 2nd group much higher in vibration can then come along and seem like the good guys doing the masses a favour. Good cop, bad cop.

Also in between the two stages numerous other races of beings can interact on a very subtle level such as channeling and individual interaction or visitation softly feeding information, here and there, in a kind of benevolent manner gently calibrating the planetary mind set and reassuring the people that this so called Sananda and his band of so called ascended masters are the real deal. Don't forget to them they are the real deal because they have all been brained washed into believing that these beings truly are the gods. So when people are communicating with these so called ascended masters all parties involved truly believe.

Remember in order to win the minds, hearts and therefore the trust of the people they will have to sell love better than a US election campaign. Beware the self-righteous ones for their love is conditional.

With the cycle ending at the first equinox of 2013 and our first merging with our light bodies taking place around the December solstice 2012 the time frame for major events is upon us. Taking into consideration that there will probably be 3 - 3 ½ year of great tribulation we are left with a time frame over the next 6-12 months for major events to begin. The financial meltdown is really a pre-cursor to the big stuff. In my calculations there are some major energy patterns around February next year so we shall see what, if anything, transpires around then. I do feel by the middle of next year 2009 that things will start becoming ugly on the world stage.

Thank you for taking the time out to consider my experiences and the information I have to share. I really hope that it helps to improve your powers of discernment whatever your conclusions may be.

My love for you is eternal.

Love, Liberation and Fortitude
